GENERAL PERSHING REFUSES TO TESTIFY BEFORE THE SUB COMMITTEE OF CONGRESS

PARIS, August 30.—General Pershing has refused to testify before the sub-committee of three of the congressional committee on expenditures by the war department which has been conducting an investigation in France. ORGANIZATION OF PERMANENT TRANSPORT RESERVE TO MOVE 200,000 MEN QUICKLY, PLAN

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 30.—Organization of a permanent "transport reserve" capable of carrying 142,000 troops is proposed by the war department as a part of the army reorganization plan. This reserve, with the regular army transport fleet, would make it possible to move an expeditionary force of nearly 200,000 men immediately in the outbreak of war. The plan, as outlined by Brigadier General Frank T. Hines, in charge of the army transport service, contemplates reserving title to 15 of the former German passenger ships and a

TREATY OPPONENTS TO TRAIL WILSON WITH OPPOSITION SPEAKERS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—Republican senators opposing ratification of the peace treaty were actively engaged today on plans for sending opposition speakers on the trail of President Wilson when he leaves here Wednesday on a prolonged speaking tour in the midwest, northwest and Pacific coast to urge immediate and unconditional ratification of the treaty and the League of Nations. After the conference of anti-ratification Republicans planned for today, it was expected something in the way of a definite program to combat the efforts of the president would be announced. In the meantime, and despite resolutions offered in the house asking Mr. Wilson to abandon his trip and re-

1ST DIVISION MEN REACH NEW YORK

NEW YORK, August 30.—Nearly 1,800 officers and men of the first division, the first members of that outfit to return home after more than two years service overseas, arrived today from France. Major General Edward F. McKelchin, Jr., commander of the division, his staff, and detachments of the 28th infantry and first engineers were on the transport Orizaba, while 10 officers and 30 enlisted men, comprising the advance section which is to make arrangements for the division's reception, returned on the transport Pastores.

Detachments of the 28th infantry to return comprised the field and staff headquarters, machine gun battalion, medical detachment and first battalion complete, a total of 40 officers and 1,202 men. The engineering units were the first battalion headquarters, medical, veterinary and ordnance detachments and Companies B and C, a total of 13 officers and 350 men.

Other units of the division are due to arrive within the next ten days on the transports Sylvania, Liberator, Freedom, Amphion, Calliope, Santa Teresa and Leviathan, which is expected to carry General Pershing, and his staff. Members of the division will be sent to camps around New York, pending the return of the last unit when they will be the guests of the city for two or three days.

Reunite arrangements have been made for a parade of the division on Fifth Avenue, September 10. It is expected that General Pershing will ride at the head of the procession.

Eight transports, carrying 6,582 troops, arrived today from Brest. In addition to the Orizaba and the Pastores, they were the Graf Waldersee, Iowa, Peerless, Santa Leonora, Henry R. Mallory and Santa Malta, which brought casualties and gnil detachments from the service of supply.

He was charged with violating a city ordinance and held in $25 bail for a hearing.

Mayor James E. Crawford, of Duquesne, part owner of the Portliver Tinplate Company, which the federation is said to have organized, ordered Sansé's arrest. The meeting, scheduled for tonight at Duquesne, will be held, notwithstanding Sansé's arrest, it was announced.

AVIATORS ARE STILL MISSING

SAN DIEGO, CAL., August 30.—Anxiety over the fate of Lieutenant Frederick H. Waterhouse and Lieutenant Cecil H. Connolly, army aviators, missing somewhere in Lower California, and Mexico, since they started from Yuma, Arizona, to their home station at Rockwell field, here, August 20, last, was at a high pitch today.

Ever since reports came in early this week that the missing men had been found by forces of Governor Cain, of Lower California, local authorities have felt reassured regarding the aviators' fate, but a denial of the reports, apparently from an authentic source, set machinery in motion for a further search for them.

This is the first large detachment of the American forces in Siberia to sail for home.

COAST STRIKERS GO BACK

LOS ANGELES, CAL., August 30.—Practically all striking steam road engineers, conductors, brakemen and switchmen reported back to work this morning, following a vote to discontinue their strikes here, which was completed last night.

Conditions are nearer normal than for ten days, as far as railroad transportation was concerned, greeted Southern California residents today. With the engineers, conductors, brakemen and switchmen returned to work, after their strike in sympathy with striking employees of the Pacific Electric lines, railroad officials arranged to move trains on virtually normal schedule. The men agreed to return at meeting held last night. A portion of those attending the meeting voted not to return to work and held a further meeting. A. F. Whitney, international president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, declared, however, the portion of union men failing to return would be negligible.

The vote of the meeting also operated to call back to work members of the "big four" railway brotherhoods on strike at San Bernardino and Hesperia, who had agreed to follow whatever action the men took here. Striking railroad employees at Fresno and San Francisco returned to work yesterday. Admittedly the situation at Hesperia was serious, men there at last reports having refused to obey the orders of the international officers to work.

WEEK-END STRIKE OF CABLE OPERATORS

NEW YORK, August 30.—Cable messages between the United States and Europe over the lines of the Commercial Cable Company are being slightly delayed as the result of the week-end strike of the operators in the western terminals, it is announced at the company's offices.

Five hundred operators are employed in the Atlantic coast stations of the company at Cape, N. H., St. Johns, N. Y., Hockport, Mass., and New York.

The operators who now are receiving a 70 percent wage bonus, demand that it be increased to sixty percent and that they be paid an allowance of $25 a month for subsistence, which they claim is received by the European operators of the company. The company announced it had offered to increase the bonus to 40 percent pending the return from Europe of General Manager Ward, but the cable operators union declined to wait.

The men stopped work at midnight last night, announcing they would return at midnight tomorrow. They plan to suspend work every week-end until their demands are granted.

GERMANS TALK FREELY OF UNDERSTANDING BETWEEN GERMANY, RUSSIA, JAPAN

PARIS, August 30.—(By the Associated Press).—A modernly equipped German army of 40,000 men has assembled in Lithuania and is preparing to march into Russia, under the pretense of endeavoring to reach and hold Admiral Kolchak, according to Lithuanian sources here.

Word to this effect was brought to Paris by Chief Engineer Stebbins of the Lithuanian railway system, who declared the Germans talked freely of a coming understanding between Germany, Russia and Japan.

In describing the situation to the correspondent, M. Stebbins said that the large German forces which had occupied Lithuanian territory, from which they have been several times ordered away by both the Lithuanian government and Marshal Foch, were entreaching themselves and preparing for a march through Russia. They call themselves "Kolchaks" and pretend that their immediate object is to reach and co-operate with the admiral's forces.

The Germans have partly evacuated the region, but since August 1, according to M. Stebbins, they have been concentrating troops anew in western Lithuania with their base at Shavili, where they also have established a general staff. They are under the ostensible leadership of the Russian general, Bergmann, but their real commander, M. Stebbins declares, is the German commander, General Von Der Goltz. They control the railway lines in all the occupied territory. They number 37,000 Germans and 3,000 Hungarians, all wearing German uniforms. The Germans serving in this army call themselves volunteers. According to the engineer and claim allegiance to the All-Russian army, thus pretending to be exempt from orders issued by Marshal Foch or the allied council. Numerous Russian prisoners, he declared, were being sent from Germany to join the army at Shavili, while in the way of equipment for the army the Germans had brought 300 airplanes, 100 automobiles and one armored train into the territory. Although the Lithuanian government at Korno had sent many notes to the Germans demanding their withdrawal and the allied officials had ordered them out, they had paid no attention to the demand, M. Stebbins added.

Escaped Germans Caught
CAMP SHERMAN, CHILLICOTHE, O., August 30.—Word was received here from Philadelphia of the arrest of William Link and Joseph Alkand, German prisoners, who escaped from the stockade here Sunday night. With 10 other Germans, Link and Alkand escaped by traveling their way out of the barracks, in which they were confined. The others were captured soon after their escape. Link and Alkand probably will be brought to Camp Sherman. When arrested they were trying to ship on a Scandinavian vessel.

PROPOSES INCREASE FOR ARMY MEN

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 30.—Increase of 50 percent in the pay of all officers of the army, navy and marine corps and 50 percent for enlisted men are proposed in a bill drawn by Rear Admiral T. J. Cowie, formerly paymaster general of the navy, for which congressional support is sought. Admiral Cowie, in a statement made public today, said the salaries of all government employees, civil and military, should be increased immediately. He suggested advances of 100 percent in the salaries of the president, the vice president and cabinet officers and their assistants and 50 percent for members of congress.

ENGINEERS THREATEN TO STRIKE

NEWARK, O., August 30.—Ohio electric cars which resumed operation last Sunday after a strike of trainmen which tied up the system, will again be idle, starting Monday, according to a statement of engineers, employees at the Hebron power plant. Notice was given that the men would strike at four o'clock Monday morning, because they have been unable to reach an agreement with the company. March Smith, business agent for the union, said, The men demand 60 cents an hour, an increase of ten cents. Company officials are in conference with the men at Hebron and a settlement is predicted this afternoon.

State Examiner's Report Deals With Street Improvements

The following is another installment of the state examiner's report on service department. Other installments will continue in The Times from day to day.

STREET IMPROVEMENT.

Albert Yeager, Superintendent.

The street cleaning and street repairing of the city are under the direct supervision of the assistant service director. The streets and alleys of the city are kept in fair condition at all times, the streets in the business section being cleaned twice a week while the other sections are cleaned every ten days.

The superintendent keeps no time book record of the men employed. However, he does keep a time card record for each man, the card disclosing the name of the employee, date and hours worked, and amount due. From the manner in which the time of the department has been kept, much expenditure of time was required in checking it with the pay-rolls of the department, owing to the fact that the said cards disclosed but one man's time for the period of a week while the regular pay-rolls of the department are made up semi-monthly thus necessitating the checking of two and three cards for each man in order to verify the pay-roll. We would advise that a proper form of time book be immediately installed, the said record to disclose the name of the employee, hours worked each day, and totalled semi-monthly, with the rate paid per hour, and amount due. By the keeping of such a record it would lessen the amount of work in the time-keeping of the minor orders weekly. Not only would the work be lessened by the installation of such a time book record, but it would obviate the possibility of the loss of some of the time cards.

The pay-rolls of the department should be made semi-monthly from the time books, the men being required to sign said pay-rolls upon receipt of their money.

Through provisions of ordinance No. 2322, passed September 6, 1916, the wages of service employees in the street cleaning and street repairing department were fixed as follows:

Day Laborers	$1.75 per day
Water carriers	1.00 per day
Double team with wagon	4.00 per day
Double team without wagon	3.50 per day
Single teams	2.75 per day
Paved street repairer	2.25

Although the above ordinance fixed the wages of the employees in this subdivision of the service department, yet, it would seem that the service director did not pay strict attention to the provisions of the ordinance as the audit disclosed that in sundry instances wages in excess of the amount provided for by law were paid employees in this department without any provision whatsoever being made therefor.

In this connection we desire to state that the service director has absolutely no authority in law to arbitrarily fix wages of any employees in his department regardless of any condition which might temporarily arise.

Section 4214, G. O., provides in part as follows:
"Except as otherwise provided in this title, council by ordinance or resolution shall determine the number of officers, clerks or employees in each department of the city government, and shall fix by ordinance or resolution their respective salaries and compensation."

If it became necessary, on account of certain conditions arising during the past two years, to raise the salaries of the employees in the service department, the service director should have taken such steps as was necessary to comply with the provisions of the above named section and have the increase made legally through ordinance of council rather than assuming such authority himself.

The provisions of Section 4214, G. O., are mandatory, and are made a part of the statutes to be observed and not to be ignored and we trust that immediate steps will be taken in order to comply with its provision, so that in the future it will be unnecessary to again call attention to this matter.

The audit of the pay-rolls disclosed the payment of the following wages in the street cleaning and street repairing department, during the period covered by our audit, without proper provision being made therefor:

Total find'gs for recovery in street repairing and street cleaning departments .. $60.84

In view of the facts as above stated we are hereby rendering a finding for recovery against the above named parties, in the amount set opposite their respective names, jointly with Ralph Calvert, director of service, and in favor of the City of Portsmouth.

The audit of the pay-rolls in the street cleaning department disclosed the following erroneous payment:

Oct. 11, 1917, Thomas Thomas, Aug. 31st, 2 1/2 hours team labor at 50 cents per hour, Warrant No. 4082, Amount $1.75.

It will be noted that 2 1/2 hours team labor at 50 cents per hour would have totaled $1.25 instead of $1.75, as paid, hence making an overpayment in the amount of 50 cents for which a finding for recovery is hereby returned against Thomas Thomas and in favor of the City of Portsmouth.

It has been the custom of the service director to enter into a verbal contract with certain teamsters for the purpose of furnishing teams in the completion of the street cleaning and street repair work, the director paying such parties the same rate of wages as is provided for through ordinance of council. During 1917, such a contract was entered into with Henry Roet, and during 1918 with John Capehart.

STIRRING UP MINE STRIKE

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., Aug. 30—Efforts of foreign radicals to stir up strife in the Logan county coal fields have failed, according to Huntington coal operators, who say that less than 200 miners have struck in these fields. Most of the strikers, the operators assert, are foreigners, who have endorsed a plan for soviet administration of the mines, not only in Logan fields, but throughout the southern section of the state.

Partial walk-outs are reported to have occurred at the Monitor Coal Company, the Rum Creek Coal Company and the Yuma Coal Company.

Red Cross Plans Big Things

There was a Red Cross meeting at the High School last night which brought out some thoughts not usual in the everyday manner of happenings. Some of these thoughts will likely be of interest:

"What the Red Cross has done in the world war it can do again and more than do in civil life."—Mark Crawford, in the introduction.

"The reason for vocational training of the service men is based on his occupational disability," said W. F. Shaw, chairman, head of the board there for Vocational Training.

"Teach the people how to live. Would you believe it, there are 50 percent of the people of Scioto County who sleep in the same clothes they have worn all the day. The new kind of health provides for one more. What can we do in Scioto County when twenty are needed?"—Dr. J. S. Rardin, Red Cross examining physician here.

"Each county will organize with each township providing its outstanding crying need. What does your township need? The people who work will handle the policy. It will be 'Home Rule' in the Red Cross."—Miss Virginia Wing, field worker in the Lake Division.

"Scioto County needs a friend." A friend to combat indifference. A friend who will be popular through dealing with causes and not results and facts. A friend who will not be half-hearted. The Red Cross has found such a friend in the Red Cross."—Rev. McConnell, South Webster.

"We don't want the Red Cross to do everything for us, we don't want a 'swivel chair' administration, but we people in the county do need directions in making matters better. We need a nurse. We need education in health matters. We need to pay attention to industrial and housing conditions."—Rev. A. H. Beardsley, Lucasville.

"In working for the Red Cross we feel we have a part in God's program."—Mrs. W. E. Gault, Portsmouth Red Cross Worker.

Many representatives of township artistic manner. committees were present at Friday night's meeting of the Red Cross conference. Much enthusiasm was caught from the workers who were sent here from Lake Division headquarters, Cleveland, to assist in starting Scioto county on the right road to grasp the ideals of the Red Cross peace program.

Dr. Carl Hunt, who spoke last night, was of the Berea College faculty. He is a man whose "finger in the pie" means the acme of organization. He is at the head of the county organization work in the Lake Division. He understands rural community life, as he has resided in the mountains of Kentucky and is simply full of a wonderful, straightforward enthusiasm which has for its basis no little dream, but actually. His help to the county and township committees cannot be measured.

In the afternoon W. F. Shaw spoke on vocational training. He wished especially to impress upon the people that to be eligible to receive vocational training the service-man must be unable to go ahead with his before-the-war occupation.

Following this talk, Miss Virginia Wing, Lake Division worker, led an informal discussion. Miss Wing made a success of her work everywhere, and a part of the good cheer and enthusiasm she scatters emanates from her personality.

Rev. McConnell, of South Webster, and Rev. A. H. Beardsley, Lucasville, both spoke with an intense interest which showed conclusively what strong support they are willing to give the Red Cross peace work.

In the afternoon Mark Crawford introduced the speakers. In the evening, Mrs. W. E. Gault, Miss Helen Marting, of Ironton, sang two solos in the afternoon, which were greatly enjoyed by the busy people there gathered, who seldom have an opportunity to be sung to in line of duty. Miss Marting has an unusually resonant voice, with excellent range and charming quality. Mrs. Margaret Queen Finney accompanied her in her usual

YUKON TERRITORY GOES DRY

DAWSON, Y. T., August 30.—The Yukon Territory goes "dry" tonight when the law enacted last spring by the Yukon legislature abolishing the saloon, becomes effective. Twenty licensed bars exist in the Yukon, of which ten are in Dawson. A government dispensary will be opened at Dawson and another at White Horse, under the control of Commissioner McKennie, at which liquor will be sold only by the bottle, and during limited hours.

Between now and February a plebiscite will be held throughout the territory to determine the future of the liquor business.

COLUMBUS AFTER G. O. P. CONVENTION

COLUMBUS, O., August 30.—Lieutenant Governor Clarence J. Brown is backing a movement among Republican leaders to bring to Columbus in 1920 the Republican national convention. With the new coliseum at the state fair grounds, Lieutenant Governor Brown, says Columbus is well prepared to handle the convention. He has put the suggestion up to the local chamber of commerce and the Columbus convention and publicity bureau.

Proof Of German Seizures

PARIS, Aug. 30.—Rumanian authorities have discovered in Transylvania highly important statistical matter, from which it appears that the central empire between December 1, 1918, and October 10, 1918, removed from Rumania 3,705,148 tons of merchandise, of which 2,161,000 tons were foodstuffs and the rest petroleum and raw materials, says a Havas message from Bucharest.

Hundreds of thousands of carloads were removed to Austria-Hungary alone.

"In view of this immense spoliation," the message adds, "the absence of Rumanian delegates from the indemnities commission and American protests against clauses in the new armistice with Hungary seem at least strange. The armistice does not restore one-fifth of what Hungary has stolen from us."

Clark Winter, collector for the Business Men's Association, is recovering from a severe attack of pneumonia.

BOOKS OF FRUIT FIRM ARE SEIZED

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 30.—Books and records of the A. C. Blair Company and the Hightow Fruit Company were seized today by assistant county prosecutors deputized as special deputies following their refusal to turn them over for inspection of the special grand jury. Three officials of the Hightow company are under indictment by the grand jury.

Deciphering of telegrams, alleged to have been used to fix prices on grapes was in progress, when the deputies rushed in automobiles to the offices of the fruit companies for their records. Radical amendments to the Smith cold storage law were urged today by Stephen M. Young, assistant county prosecutor, who charges that rascally speculative features have been omitted. He urged that it should be strengthened to check the booting of prices.

SENATOR DEFENDS J. D. RYAN

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 30.—John D. Ryan, former assistant secretary of war in charge of aircraft production, was defended in the senate today by Senator Thomas, Democrat, Colorado, from whom the senator said were insinuations in a report made to Secretary Baker by two Republican members of a congressional subcommittee, now in the west investigating operations of the war department's spruce production division.

The report alleged, Senator Thomas said, that approximately $5,000,000 of government funds were squandered in the construction of 35 miles of railroad for the production division and converted to the uses of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad, in which Mr. Ryan is a director. While the committee may have found waste of aircraft funds, Senator Thomas said, such insinuations against Mr. Ryan, were "unjust and unreasonable."

He read to the senate a letter from Prince P. P. Digne, of New York, a former brigadier general in charge of the spruce division, which said Mr. Ryan had no connection whatever with the construction of the government road.

"I know positively," Mr. Digne said, "that Mr. Ryan had absolutely nothing to do with the negotiations leading up to the contract. I carried them on myself. When I presented the contract to Mr. Ryan, he again stated that his interests in the Milwaukee railroad were such that he could not consider it and referred it to Mr. Stettinius (an assistant secretary of war at that time), who revised the contract in some minor details with the assistance of the counsel of the aircraft production board and submitted the same to the secretary of war and obtained his approval."

Clark Winter, collector for the Business Men's Association, is recovering from a severe attack of pneumonia.

The Markets

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, August 30.—The New York stock exchange was closed today in pursuance of a decision reached Wednesday by the Board of Governors to close it for the day.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—The corn market today opened with lower prices, the September article losing an outside of 2 cents. The initial decline was quickly followed by a rally induced by shorts buying to cover and September corn sold at 3 cents above the low point. Corn opened unchanged to 2c lower, with September 1.77 to 1.78 1/2 and December 1.38 1/2 to 1.39 1/2. In the first hour prices showed a tendency to steady at about opening figures for the distant months with September practically unchanged and the October article unchanged to 1/2c lower, and under some liquidating pressure dropped to about 1/2c below yesterday's closing point. September showing relatively greater strength than the distant deliveries. Opening prices were September 70 1/2 and December 73 1/2 to 74 cents.

The close was steady 1/2 to 2 1/2c lower, distant figures showing the greatest decline. Final figures were September 70 1/2 to 71 1/2 and December 73 1/2 to 74 cents.

Provisions were rather dull. Pork opened unchanged and lard and ribs at advances of from 23 cents to 33 cents. The upturn in live hog prices which was most pronounced in the packing grades had little effect on the grain trading at the outset.

Later there was little change in provisions prices and trade was dull. The advance in live hogs failed to stimulate the market and at the close pork was 75 cents lower; lard unchanged to 10c higher and ribs unchanged to 10c lower.

PIKE COUNTY MAN SHOT

William Armstrong, 40, farmer at Camp Creek, near Cooper's bridge, Pike county, was shot and fatally wounded yesterday afternoon by Sheridan Turner, 35, a neighbor farmer.

The shooting affair resulted from an old grudge between the men, and when Armstrong went to the Turner place yesterday and called Turner out to a quarrel, according to the officers, Turner returned to the house and securing his pistol returned to the roadway and opened fire. He fired five shots at Armstrong in rapid succession, 2 taking effect, one striking Armstrong in the arm and the other in the abdomen. Armstrong fell, badly wounded, and Turner then took to the woods and made his escape.

The wounded man was brought to Wheelersburg hospital last night and an examination disclosed that his intentions had been performed a number of times and an operation was performed by Dr. S. S. Haldeman in an effort to save his life. This afternoon the condition of the wounded man was critical, and his chances for recovery are regarded as slim.

Sheriff John Yahrman, of Waverly, was notified soon after the shooting, and with two deputies went to the scene. A bloodhound from New Boston was also taken to the scene, and joined in the man hunt which continued throughout the night without success. The chase was abandoned early this morning after the officers failed to locate the fugitive, and they returned to their homes. Later a telephone message said that the gunner had been surrounded in a cornfield in the vicinity, and asked that help be sent.

WANT U. S. TO HAVE AS MANY REPRESENTATIVES AS THE BRITISH EMPIRE

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 30.—Another amendment to the peace treaty providing that the United States shall have as many representatives as the British empire on the League of Nations was adopted today by the senate foreign relations committee.

The vote was nine to eight. Senator McCumber, Republican, North Dakota, standing with the Democrats against the amendment. The provision as framed would not reduce the six votes held by Great Britain and its dominions on the assembly, but simply would provide that the United States have equal representation.

OTHERS ADOPTED.—The committee also adopted two other amendments, providing that the American representatives on the reparations commission shall vote only when specifically instructed to do so by this government, and that none of the British dominions may take part in deciding a dispute under the league to which one of them is a party.

The reparations amendment was proposed by Senator Fall, Republican, New Mexico, and the other by Senator Moses, Republican, New Hampshire. The vote in each case was nine to eight, the Democrats and Senator McCumber voting in the negative.

SAFEGUARDS PROVIDED.—The amendment was the first to be adopted by the committee relating to the league covenant. It was presented by Senator Johnson, Republican, California.

The amendment also contains the same provision regarding the league council, the effect of which would be to offset the possibility that Great Britain and one of her dominions might be represented on the council at one time. In the council there are to be nine members, one from each of the five big powers and the others from smaller states to be elected from time to time.

Three Prisoners Escape From Jail

A trio of prisoners, Jesse Mills, white, Sam Nealey and Lonnie Moore, negroes, made a successful escape from the county jail and are now at large. The delivery was discovered in time for Sheriff Rickey to catch Bill McKaney, another negro, just as he was in the act of climbing through the sawed bars.

The men gained their liberty by sawing two bars of a rear window on the second floor and with these removed had an easy time getting away. The men jumped to the ground in the rear jail yard and then climbed the high fence. The suspicious of a man living in the neighborhood who saw the men going over the fence was aroused and he notified the sheriff who had just returned from the county. An investigation followed and which revealed the sawed bars and a count of noses disclosed that three prisoners were gone.

The escaped trio were seen to run south in the after at the rear of the jail and it was later learned that the white man and one of the negroes crossed the river on the lower ferry and were later seen by a man as they walked east on the road leading from South Portsmouth. No further trace of the escaped prisoners had been found this morning and Sheriff Rickey notified the authorities of the surrounding cities to keep a lookout for them.

Mills is the man who was arrested and brought here in connection with the robbery of the Crescent Jewelry store on the night of August 1 while Nealey was being held in connection with the robbery and burning of the A. J. Hyland store and postoffice at Franklin Furnace a few days ago. Moore was sent to jail from Mayor Kaps court on a minor charge.

Sheriff Rickey stated today that no further trace of the men had been secured. "I am satisfied that some one outside of the jail snatched a ray to the men. It could not have been taken through the office. Nothing is handed to the prisoners unless I see it," Sheriff Rickey said today.

"Every night I inspect the iron bars and if they had been tampered with yesterday they were 'sawed up' and this prevented me from seeing what had been going on."

Sheriff Rickey, Andy Leslie, and N. and W. detective, George Blair and Min. Williamson put in most of the night making a fruitless search for the prisoners. It was first believed that the men had gone to Vera just north of the city to catch an N. and W. train, but no trace was found of them there. Mills and Nealey had been bound over to the grand jury. Sheriff Rickey found some burned paper in the cell occupied by Mills and he believes that he blacked his face before breaking out of jail. "Mills is a smooth individual and I will leave no stone unturned to recapture him," the sheriff said today.

ton, and eighteen members of the Ironton order. On August 26th, 1904, the local order of D. of A's was instituted which started with a membership of forty-seven. Now they have a membership of two hundred and seventy-one. A musical program had been prepared but several persons who were going to participate, failed to show up.

so the committee decided to call the program off. During the evening short talks were given by various members, including J. Roberts, of the Ironton delegation and Irwin Bowser, of the local order. A lunch was served by the committee, consisting of Mrs. Mary E. Boyles, Mrs. Margaret Anderson, Mrs. Artie Dixon, Frank Schmidt and Peter Quickel.

Special Labor Day Sermon At Trinity

Democracy will be the theme of the special Labor Day sermon at Trinity Church tomorrow morning. As Sunday preceding Labor Day is called Labor Sunday, it will be so observed at this church. The pastor, Nathaniel E. Butler will speak about the four aspects of democracy: democracy of government, democracy of learning, democracy of industry, and democracy of religion. "Government of the people, by the people and for the people. The rule of the people is democracy. While democracy of government is the highest form of government, it is the most dangerous for it puts into the hands of every citizen the ballot, therefore it requires the democracy of education. The doors of schools and colleges and technical schools must be open to all, the poorest as well as the richest. If the poor are to train for democracy then there must be short enough working hours for mental and moral training. But short hours and high wages are not the full remedy for industrial life. Just as the worker has part in the government of his country and also in the government of the schools so he must have some part in the government of industry. These people give their lives for the industry and why should they not have something to say about its management? During the war, the young men gave their lives in the service, the older men gave their money to support them. Life is life wherever spent. And if life is given in the factory, it means more than the giving of money to operate and support that institution. All of the institutions of society operated for the best of society. We should not do away with individual ownership, nor with individual initiative but we would do away with the autocracy of industry as we have dethroned it in government. But we dare not stop here. If we have democracy in government and in education and in industry and nothing more we are of all men most miserable. There is a leavening power of all these that we must have to obtain satisfaction. A great French philosopher said, "Man is incurably religious. This democracy of religion must permeate all human life. Then we will have co-operation in government, education, industry and brotherhood in society. Religion must invite in-

Announcement of an important deal in local real estate circles was made Saturday when Simon Labold, president of the First National bank, confirmed a report that he came into possession of Judge J. C. Miller's Gallia street property, now occupied by W. W. Kelly & Company and the Bonnet Shop.

Mr. Labold stated today that he had purchased the property as an investment. Within the past few weeks Mr. Labold has purchased some very valuable property on Gallia street.

A Watch "Beats" 300 Times A Minute—A Hoover "Beats" Over 1,000 Times A Minute

Hold your watch to your ear. Count its gentle beats—one every 1-5th second or 300 a minute. Then watch a Hoover Beating-Sweeping Brush revolve. Remember that it gives the rug or carpet about 4 times as many gentle beats in the same minute!

HOOVER

The Hoover "beating" is really a continuous "pat-pat" of a soft-hair brush upon the rug, raised from the floor by air suction, as the illustration shows. Thus The Hoover action is as mild as the "tick-ticks" of your watch.

It is the great number of them—over 1,000 a minute—that vibrates out the buried grit. Quite different from the slow "whack-whack" of a carpet-whip which pulls and strains the threads of a rug and spreads clouds of dangerous dust.

For The Hoover action is endless and is guaranteed to prolong instead of shorten the wear of rugs and carpets.

In addition The Hoover sweeps up stubbornest clinging litter, brushes the nap to its right position and rejuvenates the colorings.

Only The Hoover beats, sweeps and suction cleans. The Hoover Brush is patented. Call and see it operate. Or we'll prove on your own floors that The Hoover cleans clean.

Giving and Receiving.
You cannot give anything to anyone, you cannot give to any cause. From all this seeming giving you only take from experience the blessing of self-expression. You give only to yourself and in ministering you minister only to yourself. The man who takes from you must in turn give before he actually receives—Exchange.

Apples and the Bible.
It is not likely that the apples or the apple tree as we know them were the tree or fruit mentioned in the Bible. Most modern writers maintain that it is either the quince or the citron, as being more in accord with passages in Scripture. (Canticles 2:3; 8:5; Joel 1:2; Proverbs 23:31; Canticles 1:2; 2:5; 7:8).

THE Prodim Process does toughen Staggard Treads to a remarkable degree; it does make Republic Tires last longer.

It is easy to prove this. Examine the tread of any Republic Tire that has been driven several thousand miles.

You will at once remark the notable absence of chipping and cutting that you would expect to find in a tire that had undergone such usage.

It will pay you to look into the longer life of Republic Tires and their consequent savings.

Norwoods At Millbrook Park On Sunday And Labor Day

World's Semi-Pro Champs Will Be Seen In Action; Great Crowds Anticipated

Will the All Stars be able to hold the Norwoods, champion semi-pro team of the world, in check when the two teams clash at Millbrook Park Sunday and Monday, Labor Day? That is a question that time alone will answer. Manager Brecken of the All Stars is quite sure his team is in shape to battle with the best of them and he feels confident that the boys will give a splendid account of their stewardship.

However, Manager Brecken realizes his team will go up against the world semi-pro champions and a team that is able to win that distinction must be an aggregation of skill and merit. The line up of the Norwoods is enough to make any fan sit up and take notice. At least four of the players are of big league experience, chief among them is Jimmy Viox, late of the Pittsburgh Pirates and one player who claims that the Pirates have one of the greatest outfielders in the world in Billy Southworth. Viox was with the Pirates last season and could be playing today were he and the Pittsburgh owners able to see the salary question through the same spectacles. Viox declares he is worth so much, while the Pittsburgh management can't see it that way although it is admitted that Viox is one of the cleanest second sackers in either league.

Then there is Jack Buschelman, who once wore a Portsmouth uniform and who graduated to the American league in sold suit, playing with the Boston

Red Sox. He was effective but wild and when he was right had it over the opposition like a tent. However, his wildness was of the untamed kind and he finally grew disgusted with himself and left the team, although he is still on the Red Sox roster list. The locals know about his wildness and Jack, who is scheduled to pitch tomorrow's game, will find the All Stars quite intelligent while in the batters box at least. They will make the tall fellow put 'em over or they won't swing—that's all there is to it.

In the history of the game, a cleaner semi-pro team was never brought to Portsmouth than the Norwoods. They stack up like the thoroughbreds and the fans will no doubt be out in great numbers to see the two games, which will start at 2:30 o'clock. In order that the fans can be kept posted as to the results of the Cincinnati-Pittsburgh game on Sunday and the Cincinnati-Cleveland game on Monday, Manager Gableman has arranged to secure a report of these two games by innings. Manager Gableman is going on the theory that there is nothing too good for the fans of Portsmouth who are sticking loyally to the All Stars. The attendance has been very gratifying so far and judging from the interest in the games Sunday and Labor Day all at once in a routing way to help the All Stars bring home the bacon. "Huck" Yeager will handle the indicator and this means an even break for both teams.

These Birds Have Kale

The wealthiest players in the game right now are Fitch and Baird of the Giants. Both of these youngsters drive their own high-priced cars, and regard their base ball salaries as mere pin-money. Both are affable, unspoiled by their money, and greatly liked by all who meet them. Their parents are immensely proud of them and follow the New York club just to see their boys perform.

Reds At Pittsburgh

The Reds are in Pittsburgh today and Walter Reuther is down on the card to pitch for Moran's men. The same teams will battle in Redland tomorrow and no doubt will be greeted by a tremendous crowd.

This Beats Potato Race.
A contest of two or more persons, each wearing electric light bulbs fastened to a suitably mounted row of sockets laid on the ground, has provided a novel substitute for the old-fashioned potato race. The new game is suitable for either indoor or outdoor festivities.

Sharonville Is Passed Up

Protests against playing the world's series games at the Speedway, provided, of course, the Reds participate, are being received by President Herrmann. The following, signed "A Bunch of Real Fans," is an example:

"Remember that it's Cincinnati that's going to win the pennant, not Sharonville. Consider the business men of this city and the loyal rooters who won't be able to go to Sharonville. We have attended 34 games this season and we want the world's series games at Redland Field."

Surprise For Members At First Christian On Sunday

A big surprise has been promised those who attend the First Christian Bible school tomorrow morning. The superintendent has so far kept the affair a secret and has not intimated to anyone the nature of the surprise. One thing sure, and that is, that only those who attend will enjoy the program. The Bible school has been hit hard by the summer slump, as have all the schools of the city. It is hoped, however, to make up for a part of the attendance deficit tomorrow, when it is predicted that fully 700 people will be present. All the classes are working hard for a full attendance, despite the fact that even the teachers do not know the nature of the surprise. Of course the members need not come expecting the superintendent to pass out ten dollar gold pieces as souvenirs of services tomorrow.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Wm. Barklow, who had been sweeping the city streets, disposed of his sweeper to Charles Craigsmiles, who took up the work of Mr. Barklow.

G. F. Reynolds, manager of the Portsmouth office of the Western and Southern Life Insurance Company, was promoted to district superintendent of that company with headquarters in Mayville.

Miss Dora Hard, of Gallia avenue, delightedly entertained the A. Class of the Portsmouth High School at her home.

George Schmidt, one of the leading members of the Jr. O. U. A. M., in the state, made arrangements to organize a body of the uniformed rank of the order in the city.

SAFE TO SAY IT NOW

A minority of the committee, appointed by the American Bar Association to inquire into court martials and make such suggestions in regard thereto as might be deemed reasonable and wholesome, has stirred upon some commotion by its declaration that the execution of Edith Cavell by the German military authorities in Belgium, was legal according to international law, as applied to court martials.

It will be recalled that no incident of the war, as illustrating German atrocity was so emphasized as the execution of Edith Cavell. A sustained effort, not altogether free from seeming concerted purpose, was made to shock the whole world over it. The minority does not justify the shooting of this English nurse, on the question of her actual guilt, merely maintaining that all the forms were legal, in practice universally acknowledged as regular among civilized nations.

One contemporary, in trying to answer this finding, says Edith Cavell was not a spy, making its own interpretation of a spy as one who furnishes information of military value to the enemy. It is to be questioned that any court martial would entertain such a narrow construction. It is admitted that Miss Cavell, who was an English nurse in Belgium, aided both English and Belgians to flee that country when occupied by Germans. Possibly, with them she did not seek information of any sort to Germany's enemies, but it can be taken as altogether that the refugees on finding harbor did impart such information, so the act was essentially her's. With its ever pervading system of espionage it is no violent assumption to say the Germans were able to produce witnesses who would swear she furnished such information directly.

Of course, humanity revolts at the cold and formal killing of a woman, especially as in such an instance as this, where the better part of the world looks upon the action for which she is adjudged as entirely noble, but war is war. It draws no distinction as to sex in fixed exigencies and deeds. This brings the Cavell case to the single proposition: Was Edith Cavell a spy? If she were then the blame for her unhappy end, must be set down as one of the terrible conditions of war; if she were not then may the world execrate her murder as a horrible Hun atrocity.

ONE FOR THE AUTOMOBILE

OVER one hundred thousand attended the State Fair, at Columbus, Thursday, always "the big day." This was the largest number that has ever attended the fair and the automobile is responsible thereto, people coming by it from all parts of the state, making a sort of holiday of the occasion.

Let it be hoped they combined business with pleasure, making such a study of the exhibits as will give new impetus to all things agricultural.

FOR THEM AND ALL THE PAPER

THE farm bureau will issue soon and perhaps, thereafter, a monthly exchange bulletin for the benefit of its members. Its purpose will be to give information as to those who wish to sell or buy things. It ought to be of much value to members.

The Times hopes and knows it will be if it is properly availed of. At the same time it would take occasion of the announcement of the forthcoming bulletin to impress not only upon members of the farm bureau, that it stands unrivaled as an advertising medium. It is read by near eleven thousand families in Scioto county and they include most all who have things to sell and money to buy. It is a matter of fact its want columns do sell thousands of individual articles every year, but what it would like to see is those columns buying as many things.

By that it means that while scores and scores of persons, having things to sell use it small ad columns, but it is a most singular fact that he who wants to buy a certain article—he just looks around and waits until he finds it offered for sale. He could save time and often money by letting it be known he desires to be a purchaser. The cost of doing this is very little.

Senator Fall says two senators said they would support the league of nations before they read it. That's fine. Near forty other senators said they wouldn't support it before they had read it, before even Leader Lodge had read it, but, of course, not before he gave the tip.

Sympathy of senators for China is inspiring, that is it might be if they had some little in feeling and a whole lot less in profession.

There was a lynching down in Georgia, Wednesday, but the Chicago Tribune hasn't a word of condemnation of it, and we all know why.

THE WISHING PLANE

When the children, Captain Bravo and Lady, arrived at the chalet of the English tourist, Sir Donald Sprigg, next day, the children found to their delight that Angelo, the Italian for whom they had formed a great liking the previous day, was there and had with him one of his great cars. Sir Sprigg explained to the little folks that he, Señor Angelo and the other men had been friends for many years and that for the last few years they had come to the village in the summer to spend a few weeks vacation. "I bought the chalet so that we would always have a home ready for us," he said. "Señor Angelo brought one of his big cars along to take us around the country whenever we aren't climbing the mountains."

Sir Sprigg proved to be an interesting man, too. When the whole party was seated under a big shade tree and Sir Sprigg had brought clear and delicious candy for Lady and Jack and Jane, the men began to talk of the countries they had visited either on pleasure or because their work called them. And the children listened breathlessly to some of the thrilling adventures they told.

Sir Sprigg himself had been an officer in the British army in South Africa. He told of fierce battles he and his troops had had with the African natives, battles that meant life or death to the little force of English soldiers. "We had only enough soldiers to keep order in the villages and through the country," said Sir Sprigg. "But occasionally the native tribes would secretly plan a general attack on us in the hopes of either killing all our men or making us prisoners. This would give them a chance to run things themselves, break open the storehouses, steal all the arms and ammunition in our barracks and then carry off our women folks and children."

"Some of the tribes obtained guns and bullets and even cannon from England's enemies, who hoped the black men would kill us. The other native warriors fought with long spears. These spears had sharp iron points and many of them were covered with some kind of poison. These poisoned spears would mean death to anyone they hit even if the wound they made wasn't serious enough to kill you."

"When the tribes attacked us they would come in the dead of night, at a time when there was no moon, to help us. The first thing our guards would hear would be an unearthly yell and then before we could get our men formed into some kind of order the natives would rush at us. We had to fight them any way we could until we could get our men into companies and get our machine guns going. The machine guns, you folks probably know, fire a regular stream of bullets, and on our just sweep the ground with them. It's the only kind of a gun of which the natives are afraid. One of the bravest men we ever had chased a whole army of natives away one night with one machine gun, but was killed doing it."

"The children weren't the only ones who said: 'Tell us about the man.' So Sir Sprigg told the story. And tomorrow you'll hear it."

New - York - Day - By - Day

BY

O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—A sudden shower drove me under a giant elm in the little park fringing Riverside Drive and, overlooking the Hudson and the Palisades of Jersey the other morning. When the skies cleared I sat on a bench and watched with never before such a thrill of admiration the nature's beauties. One would well repeat with Charles Tansworth: "The sun's nature grand!"

The black sky was suddenly brushed in as if by a landscape painter. The Palisades took on that hazy purple that Irving so loved and higher up above the blue of the sky floated puffs of clouds like beaten egg whites. The sky changed with the minutes and the white clouds broke into shapes as inexpressible as his artistic genius was infinite.

I began to get a faint glimmer of the nobility of the purpose back of life itself. Now and then there was a sucking rush of wind and an odor of gasoline to bring one back to the city itself. A sudden startling whir and a beautiful bird flashed from the tangled growth at my side.

For an hour I sat in absolute silence—observation dozed and thought looked like a sleep stirred by a passing rhymer. Strange flights of fancy swept me away from skyscrapers, churches, jostling crowds, and all the vulgar noises of the city's din.

Then I was conscious that some one other than my self was occupying the bench. I looked. It was a snarling dressed man—his clothes having the metropolitan seal. He smoked a pungent Havana and seemed to be drinking in the scene with a certain fascination.

I talked for awhile of the beauties about us. Finally he veered to other beauties of nature in other parts of the country—and before I realized it he was an old stock salesman and I hadn't fled he would have had me signing a dotted line in another five minutes. After all I was still in New York.

New York may be prosaic—but after all there is romance here. Here is a commonplace incident which culminated in a full-blooded romance. Six months ago a young New York girl was riding in a taxi down Broadway in the late afternoon. The usual congestion caused a pause in the traffic, just as the taxi was about to move on a young man dashed out of a nearby office building, ran up to the taxi and jumped in. It was dark and he did not notice the girl. And so to relate he stepped hard on her feet. His apologies fell on deaf ears for the young lady had fainted with pain.

He happened to be a doctor and he drove the young lady to his office and dressed her foot, which was badly hurt. Then he paid several professional visits and later went in an unprofessional capacity. They will be married in October.

Brooklyn has a woman who is out campaigning for Universal Nonsense. She is Mrs. Pearl Dole Bell and she believes that middle aged people need larks even more than youngsters. She declares that parents in their zeal to provide wholesome fun for their children neglect to have much for themselves and the whole family suffers thereby. Mrs. Bell has nothing to say. She is just a healthy, normal woman, happily married who gets much fun out of life and wants to inspire others to do the same thing. She says there is a marked psychological effect of indulging in such nonsense as a mental tonic and a beauty treatment.

Loaded junk logs for little lap dogs is a new addition to Millard's dress in Gotham. A stunningly gowned young lady opened her beaded bag to get some change before the cashier's window at the Majestic and there issued a series of yelps. The cashier leaned away over and nestling down in the silk lining was a little lap dog.

OBSTRUCTED VISION!

WHO'S WHO IN THE DAYS NEWS

led by Chief Menick, Indians of the Yakima tribe, in the state of Washington, are on the warpath. What they hold to be their inalienable rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness have been denied them. From the sagittae ilahah, (mountains), where grows the camas root—the home of the bear and deer, and from the kekkle ilahah, (rallies), where flow the clear water of the Yakima river these redskins have gathered to protest against the edict of the white man that they shall not fish for salmon within 400 feet of any dam.

For several years the Indians and the game warden of the state of Washington have clashed over the right of the former to spear salmon during the spring run into fresh water at all dams along the Columbia and Yakima rivers. But each season the law as interpreted by the white man has triumphed over what the Indians believed to be their rights under the 1855 treaty. It is held by the game warden, backed up by a state supreme court decision, that the treaty means that the red man may fish only where the white man is permitted to fish, that he is to have no special privileges not enjoyed by the white man.

But to the mind of the Indian such a construction of the law is not understandable. To him the treaty as it now stands is a broken promise on the part of his white brothers.

Chief Menick recently addressed his tribe. Defiant was his attitude and grave the faces of his warriors. He would have them know, because his father and his father's father had said that the land upon which they lived was free to hunt and fish. To stop them now from spearing the silver fish would mean starvation when the winter snows came. He dwelt upon the terms of the treaty.

"Well, do I remember," said the old chief, "how our fathers told of a paper which was signed so that we might seek the fish in the river's bosom, and the deer in the mountain's fastness. It is a treasured paper, and for it our fathers gave up the land, and laid aside the arrows and the tomahawk. Now the white man says there is not written upon it that we shall fish and hunt as of old; that its promise is but the snows of winter before the Chinook winds, to be blown away and considered not."

"Does the white man forget that he came to our land in wagons weak and starving? We did not deny him our food. We gave him of deer meat, of salmon, camas root and berries. Our waters were silver with the salmon, and our deer plentiful. But all is changed now; changed as seems our treaty. No longer can we live on the land except on ground which the Great White Father has put aside for us. And the fish swim, not in numbers, nor the deer to be found as of old."

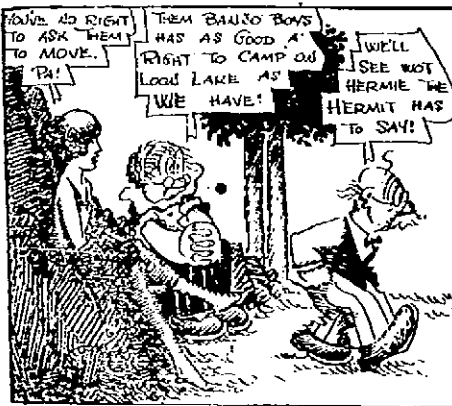

We go now into the mountain trail and find there the tracks of the white man. Far, far into the mountains and still his tracks. He kills our deer and takes our fish, yet he leaves there tin cans out of which he gets his food. He takes from us our fish and would have us buy it back to eat from a can. He would herd us in a corral like anyone and see us starve because we cannot eat his canned fish."

So spoke the Chief of the Yakimas. And, aroused by his words, the Indians agreed that money sufficient for all expenses to Washington of their chief and his aids should be taken from the tribal funds. It is their purpose to have President Wilson instruct the attorney general to institute proceedings in the United States courts for a construction of the treaty dealing with their fishing rights.

Norwoods At Millbrook Park On Sunday And Labor Day

World's Semi-Pro Champs Will Be Seen In Action; Great Crowds Anticipated

Will the All Stars be able to hold the Norwoods, champion semi-pro team of the world, in check when the two teams clash at Millbrook Park Sunday and Monday, Labor Day? That is a question that time alone will answer. Manager Brennan of the All Stars is quite sure his team is in shape to battle with the best of them and he feels confident that the boys will give an splendid account of their stewardship.

However, Manager Brennan realizes his team will go up against the world semi-pro champions and a team that is able to win that distinction must be an aggregation of skill and merit. The line up of the Norwoods is enough to make any fan sit up and take notice. At least four of the players are of big league experience, chief among them being Jimmy Evers, of the Pittsburgh Pirates and one player who claims that the Pirates have one of the greatest outfielders in the world in Billy Southworth. Viox was with the Pirates last season and could be playing today were he and the Pittsburgh owners able to see the salary question through the same spectacles. Viox declares he is worth so much, while the Pittsburgh management can't see it that way although it is admitted that Viox is one of the greatest second sackers in either league.

Then there is Jack Bushelman, who once wore a Portsmouth uniform and who graduated to the American league in said suit, playing with the Boston

Red Sox. He was effective but wild and when he was right had it over the opposition like a tent. However, his wildness was of the untamed kind and he finally grew disgusted with himself and left the team, although he is still on the Red Sox reserve list. The locals know about his wildness and Jack, who is scheduled to pitch tomorrow's game, will find the All Stars quite intelligent while in the batters box at least. They will make the tall fellow put 'em over or they won't swing—that's all there is to it.

In the history of the game, a classier semi-pro team was never brought to Portsmouth than the Norwoods. They stuck up like thoroughbreds and the fans will no doubt be out in great numbers to see the two games, which will start at 2:30 o'clock. In order that the fans can be kept posted as to the results of the Cincinnati-Pittsburgh game on Sunday and the Cincinnati-Cub game on Monday, Manager Gableman has arranged to secure a report of these two games by tonight. Manager Gableman is going on the theory that there is nothing too good for the fans of Portsmouth who are sticking loyally to the All Stars. The attendance has been very gratifying so far and judging from the interest in the games Sunday and Labor Day all attendance records for the season will be broken. Come out and do your bit in a rooting way to help the All Stars bring home the bacon. "Huck" Yeager will handle the indicator and this means an even break for both teams.

Sharonville Is Passed Up

Protests against playing the world's series games at the Speedway, protested, of course, the local residents who are being received by President Herrmann. The following, signed "A Bunch of Real Fans," is an example: "Remember that it's Cincinnati that's going to win the pennant, not Sharonville. Consider the business men of this city and the local residents who won't be able to go to Sharonville. We have attended 34 games this season and we want the world's series games at Reelard Field."

Surprise For Members At First Christian On Sunday

A big surprise has been promised the occasion—not they need not bring those who attend the First Christian Bible school tomorrow morning. The surprise has so far kept the affair a secret and has not anticipated to anyone the nature of the surprise. One thing sure, and that is, that only those who attend will enjoy the program. The Bible school has been held by the summer camp, as have all the schools of the city. It is hoped, however, to make up for part of the difficulties and relatives in the Massachusetts district tomorrow, when it begins. The assistant superintendent is promised that fully 700 people will be present. All the classes are working hard for a full attendance, despite the fact that even the teachers do not know the nature of the surprise. Of course the members need not come on both morning and evening. All people paying the subscription to pass out in the city are invited to any and all ten dollar 2500 places as well as of others tomorrow.

SAFE TO SAY IT NOW

A minority of the committee, appointed by the American Bar Association to inquire into court martials and make such suggestions in regard thereto as might be deemed advisable and wholesome, has started upon some connection by its declaration that the execution of Edith Cavell by the German military authorities in Belgium, was legal according to international law, as applied to court martials.

It will be recalled that no incident of the war, as illustrating German atrocity was so emphasized as the execution of Edith Cavell. A sustained effort, not altogether free from seeming concerted purpose, was made to shock the whole world over it. The question of her actual guilt, merely maintaining that all the forms were legal, in practice universally acknowledged as regular among civilized nations.

One contemporary, in trying to answer this finding, says Edith Cavell was not a spy, making its own interpretation of a spy as one who furnishes information of military value to the enemy. It is to be questioned that any court martial would entertain such a narrow construction. It is admitted that Miss Cavell, who was an English nurse in Belgium, aided both English and Belgians to flee that country, when occupied by Germans. Possibly, with them she did not send information of any sort to Germany's enemies, but it can be taken as altogether that the refugees in finding harbor did impart such information, so the act was essentially her's. With its ever pervading system of espionage it is no violent assumption to say the Germans were able to produce witnesses who would swear she furnished such information directly.

Of course, humanity revolts at the cold and formal killing of a woman, especially as in such an instance as this, where the better part of the world looks upon the action for which she is adjudged as entirely noble, but war is war. It draws no distinction as to sex in fixed exigencies and deeds. This brings the Cavell case to the single proposition: Was Edith Cavell a spy? If she were then the blame for her unhappy end, must be set down as one of the terrible conditions of war; if she were not then may the world execrate her murder as a horrible Hun atrocity.

ONE FOR THE AUTOMOBILE

OVER one hundred thousand attended the State Fair, at Columbus, Thursday, always "the big day." This was the largest number that has ever attended the fair and the automobile is responsible thereto, people coming by it from all parts of the state, making a sort of holiday of the occasion.

Let it be hoped they combined business with pleasure, making such a study of the exhibits as will give new impetus to all things agricultural.

FOR THEM AND ALL THE PAPER

THE farm bureau will issue soon and perhaps, thereafter, a monthly exchange bulletin, for the benefit of its members. Its purpose will be to give information as to those who wish to sell or buy things. It ought to be of much value to members.

The Times hopes and knows it will be if it is properly availed of. At the same time it would take occasion of the announcement of the forthcoming bulletin to impress not only upon members of the farm bureau, that it stands unrivaled as an advertising medium. It is read by near eleven thousand families in Scioto county and they include most all who have things to sell and money to buy. It is a matter of fact its want columns do sell thousands of individual articles every year, but what it would like to see is those columns buying as many things.

By that it means that while scores and scores of persons, having things to sell use it small and enormous, but it is a most singular fact that he who wants to buy a certain article—he just looks around and waits until he finds it offered for sale. He could save time and often money by letting it be known he desires to be a purchaser. The cost of doing this is very little.

Senator Fall says two senators said they would support the league of nations before they read it. That's fine. Near forty other senators said they wouldn't support it before they had read it, before even Leader Lodge had read it, but, of course, not before he gave the tip.

Sympathy of senators for China is inspiring, that is it might be if they had some little in feeling and a whole lot less in profession.

There was a lynching down in Georgia, Wednesday, but the Chicago Tribune hasn't a word of condemnation of it, and we all know why.

THE WISHING PLANE

BY WILLIS WINTER

When the children, Captain Brave and Ladybird, arrived at the chalet of the English tourist, Sir Donald Sprague, most day, the children found to their delight that, indeed, the chalet for whom they had formed a great liking the previous day, was there and had with him one of his great cars. Sir Sprague explained to the little folks that he, Sir Sprague, and the other men had been friends for many years and that for the last few years they had come to the village in the summer to spend a few weeks' vacation. "I bought the chalet so that we would always have a home ready for us," he said. "Sir Sprague brought one of his big cars along to take us around the country wherever we aren't climbing the mountain."

Sir Sprague proved to be an interesting man, too. When the whole party was seated under a big shade tree and Sir Sprague had brought chairs and cigars for the men folks and delicious candy for Ladybird and Jack, the children began to ask him all sorts of questions about the country and the people who lived there. And the children listened breathlessly to some of the thrilling adventures they told.

Sir Sprague himself had been an officer in the British army in South Africa. He told of three battles he and his troops had had with the African natives, battles that meant life or death to the little force of English soldiers. "We had only enough soldiers to keep order in the villages and through the country," said Sir Sprague. "But occasionally the native tribes would secretly plan a general attack on us in the hopes of either killing all of us or making us prisoners. This would give them a chance to run things themselves, break open the stores, steal all the arms and ammunition in our barracks and then carry off our women, folks and children."

"Some of the tribes obtained guns and bullets and even cannon from England's enemies, who hoped the black men would kill us. The other native warriors fought with long spears. These spears had sharp iron points and many of them were covered with some kind of poison. These poisoned spears would mean death to anyone who hit even if the wound they made wasn't serious enough to kill you."

"When the tribes attacked us they would come in the dead of night, at a time when there was no moon to help us. The first thing our guards would hear would be an unearthly yell, and then before we could get our men formed into some kind of order the natives would rush at us. We had to fight them any way we could until we could get our men into companies and get our machine guns going. The machine guns, you folks probably know, fire a regular stream of bullets, and on each just sweep the ground with them. It's the only kind of a gun of which the natives are afraid. One of the bravest men we ever had chased a whole army of natives away one night with one machine gun, but was killed doing it."

"The children weren't the only ones who said, 'Well, about the man.' So Sir Sprague told the story. And tomorrow you'll hear it."

OBSTRUCTED VISION!

WHO'S WHO IN THE DAYS NEWS

Lead by Chief Menhick, Indians of the Yakima tribe, in the state of Washington, are on the warpath. What they hold to be their inalienable rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness have been denied them. From the sagehills of Idaho, (mountains), where grows the home of the bear and deer, and from the Kettle Bluffs, (valleys), where flow the clear water of the Yakima river these redskins have gathered in protest against the chief of the white man that they shall not fish for salmon within 400 feet of any dam.

For several years the Indians and the game warden of the state of Washington have clashed over the right of the former to spear salmon during the spring run into fresh water at all dams along the Columbia and Yakima rivers. But each season the law as interpreted by the white man has triumphed over what the Indians believed to be their rights under the 1855 treaty. It is held by the game warden, backed up by a state supreme court decision, that the treaty phrase, "not all accustomed places" means that the white man may fish only where the white man is permitted to fish, that he is to have no special privileges not enjoyed by the white man.

But in the mind of the Indian such a construction of the law is most understandable. To him the treaty as it now stands is a broken promise on the part of his white brothers.

Chief Menhick recently addressed his tribe. Defiant was his attitude and grave the faces of his warriors. It would have them know, because his father and his father's father had said that the land upon which they lived was free to hunt and fish. To stop them from spearing the silver fish would mean starvation when the winter snows came. He dwelt upon the terms of the treaty.

"Well, do I remember," said the old chief, "how our fathers told of a paper which was signed so that we might seek the fish in the river's bosom, and the deer in the mountain's fastness. It was a treasured paper, and for it our fathers gave up the land and laid aside the arrows and the tomahawks. Now the white man says there is not written upon it that we shall fish and hunt as of old; that its promise is but the snows of winter before the Chinook winds, to be blown away and considered not."

"Does the white man forget that he came to our land in weapons weak and starving? We did not deny him our food. We gave him of deer meat, of salmon, camas root and berries. Our waters were silver with the salmon, and our deer plentiful. But all is changed now; changed as seems our treaty. No longer can we live on the land except on ground which the Great White Father has put aside for us. And the fish swim, not in numbers, nor the deer to be found as of old."

We go now into the mountain trail and find there the tracks of the white man. Far, far into the mountains and still his tracks. He kills our deer and takes our fish, yet he leaves there no trace of which he gets his food. He takes from our fish and would have us buy it back to eat from a can. He would herd us in a corral like rams and see us starve because we cannot eat his canned fish."

And, aroused by his words, the Indians agreed that money sufficient for all expenses to Washington of their chief and his aids, should be taken from the tribal funds. It is their purpose to have President Wilson instruct the attorney general to institute proceedings in the United States courts for a construction of the treaty dealing with their fishing rights.
